Viossa

the greatest language mixing experiment in the world

back home

what is viossa?

1

some people joined a Skype call and spoke to each other

2

none of them understood anybody else's language

3

they used hand gestures and pictures to communicate

4

their words kept merging until pictures weren't necessary

5

the resulting language was called Viossa

the rules of viossa

- no translation or translation hints

- |                              |  |             |
|------------------------------|--|-------------|
| ○ “does ... mean ...?”       |  | not allowed |
| ○ “what does ... mean?”      |  | not allowed |
| ○ “how do I say ...?”        |  | not allowed |
| ○ drawing pictures    |  | allowed!    |
| ○ using hand gestures |  | allowed!    |
| ○ writing emojis      |  | allowed!    |

- if it's understood, it's viossa

- spelling doesn't really matter
- grammar doesn't really matter
- pronunciation doesn't really matter

“idiolect – the dialect of an individual; their differing grammatical,
vocabulary, and
spelling methods”

Viossa speakers often use their idiolects as a form of identity.

learning viossa is radically different

lots of people learn languages through dictionaries and grammar packets. in viossa, we...

- draw pictures and emojis
- use fill-in-the-blanks and dialogue
- ignore grammar whenever we can
- accept that we might not know everything

acquiring vocabulary

if you're not sure what vocab you need, try...

- writing about your day
- describing a situation around you
- writing school assignments
- talking about a book

do all these things in viossa and try to be aware of what words you don't know

more learning resources

after this presentation, keep learning at....

- the viossa discord server, discord.gg/AWD8W9UgvV
- the viossa-only encyclopedia, vikoli.org
- the podcast “Davi hanu!”, available anywhere you get podcasts
- a Telegram channel, t.me/joinchat/UtA9oRzOTAbcz\_6oqUYI2w

let's start!

remember the rules of viossa! when learning viossa...

- only speak viossa
- do not ask clarifying questions in english
  - nobody is allowed to answer you
  - you'll disrupt others' learning processes

you're learning like a newborn. can children resort to english while learning english?
